

Smith County Genealogical Society Announces Veteran Project

The Smith County Genealogical Society is pleased to announce that it is beginning work on its next project, a Smith County veteran's history book. The Society has already begun collecting photos and histories of Smith County veterans to be included in the book. Histories and/or photos for any veteran, with any family ties to Smith County, from any time period or any branch of service, whether they served during wartime or peacetime, are wanted for this very special project. Mr. Eugene Tullos has generously allowed the Society the use of his large collection of photos of World War II combat veterans, as well as the histories of the many veterans that he has researched and written.

All histories and/or photos which were contributed for either of the books, Smith County and Its Families, Volume I or Smith County and Its Families, Volume II, both compiled and published by the Smith County Genealogical Society, will automatically be included in this Smith County veteran's history book, as well as histories and/or photos of veterans who were not included in these two volumes. If family members wish to revise those histories contributed earlier, they are more than welcome to do so. Sample forms containing a list of possible information to be included in the veteran's history are available at the Raleigh Public Library or may be found at our website www.smithcountygenealogy.org.

The deadline for submission of photos and or histories for this publication has been extended to December 30, 2010.

For more information, or to submit a veteran history or photo, please contact one of the following members of the Smith County Genealogical Society: Charlotte Webb, (601) 426-6749, e-mail Lncwebb29@gmail.com; George Stuart, (601) 782-9497 after 5:00 pm, e-mail gwstuart@netscape.net; Becky Sellers, (601) 988-7508 after 5:00 pm, e-mail rsellers88@gmail.com; or email the Society at scmgs@smithcouthgenealogy.org. Histories and photos may be mail to the Society at P.O. Box 356, Raleigh, MS 39153. All photos will be returned.

The Smith County Genealogical Society meets the second Saturday of each month in the Raleigh Library Conference Room at 10 a.m. We invite anyone that is interested in genealogy to attend.
